May 4–July 8, 2012

Featuring 66 artworks by over 60 juniors and seniors from the University of San Francisco’s Departments of Art + Architecture and Media Studies, this student-organized exhibition consists of a diverse collection of paintings, photographs, prints, typography, sculptures and architectural pieces to juxtapose traditional techniques and new media. The students have integrated various art disciplines to highlight their individual skills, sensibilities and points of view as independent artists.
